Leland Lee is an artist of great talent his work depicts images that capture the imagination and behold the viewer from the intense color that instantly grabs our attention. Leland Lee's work connects to all different types of people, different age groups, with different interest. He manages through his work to speak in volumes.

Leland Lee attends the Conservatory of fine arts at California State University. He enrolled nine years ago and still to this day continues to attend. Our instructors noticed he had a special gift the kind of rare gift that only one gets to see seldom. He is a natural, the best his generation has to offer. He is known for his painting in our school but can render like no other student. His style is defined and consistent, diverse like that of a master.

The conservatory of fine arts has seen Leland grow and prosper thought his career. Working with Leland and knowing Leland have been the greatest pleasure of my career. This young talent radiates enthusiasm and life: He is fun, conscientious, bright, capable, and an organized student. He is mature and involved fully in the world of art. As the director of this program I can say that leland lee is a rare talent in full force ready to take on the art world. His work is bound to succeed.

Sincerely,

Carlos Vargas
